THE ROUTE in Allegheny City, heretofore served by Mr. GIBSON, has passed into other hands. For the next few days irregularities may occur. Persons who do not receive their paper as usual will confer a favor by leaving word in the COMMERCIAL Counting Room.

NOT SO GLOOMY.—Our special Harrisburg despatch, yesterday, placed Mr. Speaker THADDEUS STEVENS in the attitude of "alluding gloomily to the determination of the North to crush the rebellion." We presume the intelligent reader supplied the word "glowingly," and thus did justice to the Speaker and truth.

Telegraphic Summary.

[The following is a summary of telegraphic dispatches which we have not room to print entire.]

The question of the repeal of the duty on paper has created a panic in the New York market, and prices are already beginning to decline. New England manufacturers are offering their paper at twenty cents, and the principal publishers refuse to give over eighteen cents.

Six tons of powder was used in blowing the bulkhead out of the Dutch Gap Canal. The concussion was very slight, and not so successful as expected.

Richmond papers say that it is hardly possible a force so enormous as Butler's should have been beaten off and discomfited by a garrison of a few hundred men, the most part of whom were post militia. The repulse had a most cheering effect upon the rebels.

It is reported that our iron-clads, nine in number, have returned to Charleston Harbor, and that Admiral Dahlgreen was to co operate with General Sherman in an attack on Charleston.

Admiral Porter's fleet is reported to be at Beaufort safely anchored. All the remaining transports were on the way to Hampton Roads.

News from Richmond shows an increasing desire on the part of the rebels to make Gen. Lee supreme military commander.

Collector Draper was appointed Government cotton agent at Savannah some two months since. The bonds required amount to two hundred thousand dollars. The cotton will probably be sent to New York or Europe.

Colonel Julian Allen has, with the consent of General Sherman, been sent north, by the Mayor of Savannah, to purchase for that city, certain articles of food for distribution.

Four blockade runners arrived at Wilmington, a few days ago, with supplies for the rebel armies.

According to rebel accounts, but little injury was done to Fort Fisher by Porter's bombardment. Twenty thousand shots were fired by the fleet—the rebels responding by six hundred and sixty-two shots on the first day, and six hundred on the second. The rebel loss was three killed and fifty-five wounded.

The Richmond Sentinel, Jeff. Davis' organ, in discussing the probability of the recognition of the Confederacy by England and France, is willing to urge the abolition of slavery if such a result should be brought about. Such a proposition, it says, would be favorably received by both England and France.

Hardee is reported as being brought to a stand, and would probably be obliged to surrender.

The subscriptions to the 10-40 loan, received at the Treasury Department on Tuesday, amounted to $1,280,000, and $1,825,000 to the 7-30 loan.

The steamer Costa Rico arrived from Aspinwall, bringing $150,000 in treasure.

The election of United States Senators takes place in the Maine Legislature on the 17th instant.

Hon. Fred Smith was nominated for Governor by the New Hampshire Republican Convention yesterday. Hon. J. H. Patterson was unanimously nominated for Congress in the Third District.

The Palmetto Herald will hereafter be published at the office of the Savannah News, and will become a daily paper.

At a masonic meeting in Savannah representatives were present from Massachusetts, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee.

A blockade runner arrived at Savannah a few days ago, not knowing that the city had changed hands.

The Mayor of Savannah, in a speech at a public meeting, said that the city contains twenty thousand inhabitants without food, fuel, or remunerative prospects. Cut off from all connection with the country, the heart sickens at the sight. It is said that they all felt greatly indebted to the commandant of the city for the course he had pursued.

The President has appointed Ainsworth Spofford Librarian of Congress, to succeed Dr. Stevenson, resigned.

The belief is general among certain officials that the Rebel Congress, in secret session, passed a bill authorizing Jeff. Davis or Gen. Lee to call out 50,000 slaves for service in the army as soldiers.

The earnings of the Pittsburgh and Cleveland Railroad for the past year are $2,512,000, and the expenses sixty per cent. of the earnings.

At the Republican caucus held in Springfield, Ill., last night, Gov. Yates received thirty-eight votes, all others twenty-five.

CITY MATTERS.

GALLANT SOLDIER DEAD.—William Lutz, a member of Company F, 61st Pennsylvania Volunteers, died on the 27th of December, at Newton University Hospital, Baltimore, from the effect of cruel treatment received at the hands of the chivalry in command of the prison pens of the South. Mr. Lutz entered the service with the late Colonel Ripper, in 1861, and was wounded in the second day's fight at Fair Oaks, the day after Colonel Rippey was killed. He fought through all the campaigns of McClellan, Hooker, Burnside, and Meade, and was with Grant at Spottsylvania and Rappahannock Station, where he was captured on the 10th of May. He was taken to Danville, Va., where he was kept a prisoner for months, and then removed to Savannah, from whence he was paroled a few weeks since. He arrived at Annapolis in as good health as could be expected under the circumstances, and was on his way home when he was taken ill at Baltimore, and died in four hours after being admitted to the Hospital. His remains have been brought home for interment, and the members of the Sixty-first Regiment now in the city are expected to attend his funeral from the residence of his mother, corner of Craig street and Bank lane, Allegheny City, this afternoon at two o'clock.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.—The contributors of the House of Refuge for Western Pennsylvania, held their 11th annual meeting at the office of the Institution, No. 67 Fourth St., at 10 o'clock A. M., on Monday, January 2d, 1865.

The meeting was called to order by calling R. C. Loomis to the Chair, and N. P. Sawyer, Secretary. H. L. Ringawlt and N. P. Sawyer were appointed tellers to conduct the election.

The late Board of Managers presented their report, embracing reports of the Superintendent, Treasurer, Chaplain and Physician.

On motion, the reading of statistics was dispensed with.

On motion, the Committee of Instruction and Discipline were directed to have published, in pamphlet form, one thousand copies of the report of the late Board of Managers, together with the proceedings of the election at this meeting.

A note was received from the County Commissioners of Allegheny County presenting the names of Hon. J. E. Fake, Jno. Dean, Jas. Robb, and F. C. Negley to represent the Commissioners in the Board of Managers for the year 1865.

On motion the polls were closed at twelve o'clock M., at which hour the tellers reported the following persons as having received the plurality of votes, and were elected:—

President—Joseph Dorrock. Vice-President—William Dilworth. Secretary—James B. D. Irwin. Treasurer—Joshua Hanna. Managers—James Anderson, [illegible] Chesney, [illegible], S. Fetterman, B. L. Fahnestock, W. D. Aiken, C. Yeager, Charles Arbuthnot, Thomas J. Bigham, Harvey Childs, Joseph Woodwell, and Isaac Jones. Hon. John E. Parke, John Dean, James Robb, and F. C. Negley, represent the County in the Board.

Nap. says Pittock keeps the finest assortment of Albums, Folios, Gold Pens, New Books, Bibles, Pocket Books, Pocket Albums, and other articles in the city. Go yourself and see his really fine stock.

Almanacs in great variety at Pittock's, opposite Postoffice.

The newspaper organ of the Canadian Prime Minister advocates the passage of an alien bill at the next session of Parliament, the design of which is said to be the expulsion of the Southern sympathizers from the Province.

FIRST DITION.

1 MIDNIGHT.

ANNUAL ESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR OF NNSYLVANIA.

To the Senate and House Representatives:

During the past year people of this Commonwealth have had reason to be grateful to Almighty God for manyblessings. The earth has been fruitful, industry has thriven, and with the exception of the injury suffered by the citizens of some of our border counties, through the disgraceful barbari of the rebel forces which ravaged parts of them, and burned the town of Chambersburg we have no public misfortune to lament, as year closes with a train of brilliant succes obtained by the armies of the United Stes, inspiring hope in every loyal mind that the accursed rebellion will soon be crushed, a peace be restored to our country.

The fiscal year accnted for in the statement of the Treasury epartment, embraces the time from the 1st of ecember, 1863, to the 30th of November, 1864, the sinking fund year commenced the first Monday in September, 1863, and closed the first Monday in September, 1864. This will explain the discrepancy between the statement of the Treasury Department and the statement of the debt of the State, and the statment embodied in the proclamation relative to the sinking fund.

The Commonwealth held bonds received from the sale of Public Works, amounting to one hundred millions of dollars ($10,300,000), as follows:

Pennsylvania Railroad Co bonds.....	$6,800,000 00
Philadelphia and Erie R. R Company bonds.....	3 500 000 00
		$10,300,000 00

These bonds are in the Sinking Fund, and reduce the public debt to $29,079,603 94.

The loan to the State not found to answer the act of 30th April and 25th August, 1864, has yielded something less than $200,000—a much less sum than was anticipated. I, therefore, suggest a revision of these acts for the purpose of rendering this source of revenue more productive, and amending other defects in those bills.

The aggregate tax upon the stock of the banks during the year amounts to $530,666 67, but under the enabling act of the State so many of our banks have become National Banks under the act of Congress, that the source of revenue may be considered as substantially extinguished, and it will be necessary in some way to make up the deficiency from other sources.

The act of Congress authorizes the taxation by the State of the stock in the National Banks in the hands of the holders, not exceeding the rate of taxation imposed on other similar property, and part of the deficiency may be thus provided for.

The amount of debt extinguished by the Sinking Fund during the year is unusually small, which is to be accounted for by the extraordinary expenses which have been incurred. Seven hundred and thirteen thousand dollars ($713,000) have been paid to refund to the banks the money advanced by them to pay the volunteers in service during the invasion of the State in 1863, and one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) have been distributed among the inhabitants of Chambersburg, suffering by the rebel degruation of their town. About two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) have been expended unter the acts providing for the payment of extra military claims, and in addition to these extraordinary outlays, the amount appriated by charities was last year larger than usual.

In my opinion this natter of donations to charities is fraught with much evil into a great abuse. Institutions of Refuge, and Insane, Blind and Deaf and Dumb Asylums, appear to be proper subjects of State bounty, because their objects are of public importance and because well, and well and economically managed, it seems to be necessary that they should be more extensive than would be required for the wants of a particular county. But in our system, ordinary local charities are left to the care of the respective localities, and to give the public money for their support is really to tax the inhabitants of all the counties for the benefit of one.

The national taxation is heavy and must probably be made heavier, and the local taxes authorized by unwise legislation and paid by our people are excessive. In view of these circumstances, I recommend that we avoid increasing their burdens by making undue appropriations for any purpose.

If being alleged that the Atlantic and Great Western Rail road Company has not in various particulars obeyed the law by which it was incorporated, the Attorney General (on the suggestion of parties claiming to be interested) has filed an information in equity against that company, seeking an injunction to prevent a continuance of its past, and the persistence of its intended illegal course.

Since my last annual message on the report of John A. Wright, Esq., that the Sunbury and Erie Railroad was finished, I ordered the bonds remaining in the Treasury to be delivered to the company.

It is a subject of just pride to the people of this Commonwealth, that a great work is completed, and while it opens a large and wealthy part of the State to the commerce of the seaboard, and unites capital and enterprise within our borders, it secures to the State the wealth the payment of sums due her from the company.

In my special message of 30th April last, to which I refer, I communicated to the Legislature, in some detail, the circumstances connected with the advance by banks and other corporations of the funds to pay the volunteer militia of 1863.

It is not necessary here to recapitulate them at length. The case was peculiar, and it is believed none of which has occurred. The call for volunteers was made by the authorities of the United States, but it being found that men could not be got under that call, the form of a call by the State authorities for the defence of the State was, with the assent of the President, substituted. The United States agreed to furnish the arms, subsistence and supplies, but it was alleged that Congress had made no appropriation covering the pay. It this state of things, the emergency being great, the Secretary of War telegraphed me, thus:

WASHINGTON, July 22, 1863.

To His Excellency, Gov. A. G. Curtin:

Your telegrams respecting pay of militia, called out under your proclamation of the 27th of June, have been referred to the President for instructions, and have been under his consideration. Quite recently he says that while no law or appropriation authorizes the payment, by the General Government, of troops that have not been mustered into the service of the United States, he will recommend to to Congress to make an appropriation for the payment of troops called into State service to repel an actual invasion, including those of the State of Pennsylvania. If, in the meantime, you can raise the necessary amount, as has been done in other States, the appropriation will be applied to refund the advance to those who made it. Measures have been taken for the payment of troops mustered into the United States service as soon as the muster and pay rolls are completed. The answer of this Department, to you as Governor of the State, will be given directly to yourself, whenever the Department is prepared to make answer.

(Signed) EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

In the hurry and other occupations refused to advance the money unless I would pledge myself to ask an appropriation from the Legislature to refund it. It will be noticed that the pledge of the President is clear and distinct, that if withheld from Congress, money was paid and the accounts settled and placed in the hands of the President before the meeting of Congress, no such recommendation as promised me was made, and for that reason the bill introduced for that purpose failed. The men were raised and placed under the command of Major General Couch, and the other United States officers in this Department. The troops were held in service longer than the emergency for which they were called out required. Several of the regimentsa were mustered immediately into distant parts of the State, by order of the officers of the army stationed in Pennsylvania, against my repeated remonstrances. They were retained, as was alleged, to preserve the peace and enforce the draft. Nearly, if not quite, one-half the money was paid to troops thus held, and after the emergency had expired. Finding that the appropriation was likely to fail in Congress, I laid the matter before the Legislature, just prior to their adjournment, in May last, and an act of Assembly was immediately passed to refund the money out of the State Treasury, which as above stated, has been done. I ought to say that the appropriation by Congress was vigorously supported by all the members from this State, in both branches. Having done everything in my power to procure the payment of this just claim of the State, I now recommend that the Legislature take the subject into consideration with a view to induce proper action by the President and Congress.

By the act of 22d August, 1861, I was authorized to cause an immediate enrollment of the militia to be made, unless that recently made by the United States should be found sufficient, and to raise by volunteering or draft a corps of fifteen thousand men for the defence of our southern border. The United States enrollment being found very defective, I directed an enrollment to be made, which is now in progress under the charge of Colonel Lemuel Todd, whom I appointed Inspector General. A draft by the United States was then in progress, and it was not thought advisable to harrass our people by a contemporaneous state draft, even if a draft had been practicable under the present law. Volunteers could not be obtained, there being no bounties, and the men not being exempted by their enlistment in that corps from draft by the United States. Fortunately the United States placed an army, under General Sheridan, between us and the enemy, and thus provided effectually for our defence. With such adequate protection as proved by the brilliant campaign of that army, I did not think it right to incur the expense to the State of an independent force, and the withdrawal of so many of our people from their homes and pursuits. Meanwhile arrangements have been made with the authorities at Washington for arming, clothing, subsisting and supplying the corps at the expense of the United States, and an order has been given by the authorities of the United States to furlough such volunteers in the corps as may be drafted by the United States. The corps so privileged not to exceed 5,000 men. It is my intention to raise 5,000 men during the winter, and I have already adopted measures to that end. There may occur irruptions of irregular bodies of the rebels, and it is well to be provided against them. The force proposed will be so raised and put into actual service, will, in my judgment, be sufficient, and a regard to due economy requires that no more than are sufficient should be placed on pay. The remaining 10,000 will be organized, and ready for service in case of necessity. I invite your immediate attention to the very able report of Colonel Todd, and to the suggestions therein contained.

The State agencies at Washington and in the Southwest, are in active and successful operation. I communicate herewith the reports of Col. Jordan, at Washington, and Col. Chambers, at Nashville, for the Southwest. The duties of the law requiring the agents to collect moneys due by the United States to soldiers, have been performed with promptness. A perusal of reports will show the magnitude and usefulness of this branch of their service. I desire to invite the attention of all our volunteers, officers, soldiers and their families to the fact that the State agents will collect all their claims on the Government, gratuitously, as I have reason to believe that many are still ignorant of that fact, and are paying exorbitant fees to private claim agents.

Under the act of the 6th of May, 1864, I appointed Hon. Thomas H. Burrowes as the in charge of the arrangements for the education of the orphans of soldiers. I communicate herewith a copy of his report on the subject. He has discharged his duties with commendable zeal, fidelity and efficiency. I earnestly recommend that a permanent and liberal appropriation be made to support this just and worthy scheme of beneficence.

I recommend that an appropriation be made for pensions to the volunteer militia men, (or their families) who were killed or hurt in service in the years 1862 and 1863. As soldiers sometimes arrive here who are insane, and who should be protected and cared for, I recommend that provision be made for placing them in the State Asylum for the Insane, at this place, and kept until notice can be given to the authorities of their respective counties, who should be required to remove and care for them.

I feel it to be my duty to invite your serious attention to the evils growing out of the system of passing acts of incorporation, for purposes which are provided for by general laws. We have passed acts authorizing charters to be obtained without special legislation. These acts had been generally prepared with some care, and contain the provisions which the Legislature thought necessary to protect the Commonwealth and her citizens. If these acts do not in practice be found to answer such purposes, they should be amended and perfected. If any company desires to be incorporated for objects and privileges not provided for, or to be relieved from any of the conditions imposed by these acts, it appears to me that it should be required first to obtain the passage of a general law, and then apply to the Legislature for an act making the changes which are desired. The attention of the Legislature will thus be drawn to the specific object, and injurious legislation can be prevented

The Entering Wedge in Georgia.

A Union meeting in Savannah, to organize a movement having for its object the bringing back of the State of Georgia into the family of States, is not the least auspicious sign of the times. We can well understand how some such movement would follow naturally in the train of events, in any State of the Confederacy, not excepting even South Carolina. The line of demarcation between the rebel leaders and the people of the South has for the last six months been growing more and more distinct. This has been the result of an uninterrupted chain of defeats, the weakening of the war power, and the general exhaustion of the South, to say nothing of the reinforced will of the North as evinced by the Presidential election.

Human nature in the South is the same as everywhere else. The people and the leaders are manifesting it, but in opposite ways. The leaders, of the DAVIS and BENJAMIN school have sinned past forgiveness, and they know it. It is but natural that they should go on in their desperation. There is nothing else they can do and they will make every effort in their power to induce others to follow them. Not so with the people. There is a standing proclamation of amnesty in their favor. There is a future for them. They can see, as the leaders do, how the struggle must end, and that it is solely a question of time. A movement for peace will be hailed with gladness by many, besides its originators. Thousands will join it as it goes on. Many will hesitate to separate themselves from their leaders at once, for they are bound together by the obligations of a common cause. This feeling, opposed as it is to their judgment and interest, will not prove so strong in the end as the conviction that the common cause must end in common disaster. Human nature does not control masses to this extent, only the desperate few who constitute the working capital of the Rebellion.

A majority of the people of Georgia stood out against secession till coerced into it. Of the large minority then, some at least must have remained steadfast in their faith, though, perhaps, yielding tacit acquiescence. Supported and protected by the presence of the Union army, they will now act, favored by the disaffection existing in the State towards the DAVIS dynasty, and the prevalent disposition to assert the acknowledged doctrine of State Rights.

In any light the movement in Georgia must be viewed as auspicious to the Union cause, and an entering wedge speeding the severance and downfall of the DAVIS dynasty.

Canadian Hostility.

The Washington Chronicle thinks "there can be no doubt that the inhabitants of the British Provinces are deeply hostile to the American Union." The remark is unquestionably correct; but instead of confessing its inability to understand the reason, or Washington contemporary might have said that this "hostility" is but the natural result of the teaching and course of the British cabinet and aristocracy, with which it is in direct harmony. The Provinces but indicate to crook of the English Governmental finger. As the Home Government not been "hostile" to the cause of the Union, the Provinces could not have been. Had not British shipowners, British docks and aid arsenals, not been largely given up to aid the rebellion, the Provinces would not have become the base of rebel operations. The stream cannot be other than as the fountain is. Lately we have seen the profession of a better feeling. No one should be deceived by it. Every one should know how much the DIX order has had to do with it in the Provinces. There has been no real change of thing.

We are glad to hear from the Chronicle that "the order of General BUTLER was suspended that the Canadian authorities might have an opportunity of vindicating their neutrality, without seeming to be driven thereto by a menace. But while no general order exists for pursuing rebel raiders into the Provinces, a broad intimation has been got that a special one will be issued as often as occasion requires."

The country will be glad to learn that "a broad intimation" has been given to the Provincial authorities that they have been placed on their good behavior, and that on their conduct depends whether the DIX order will be specially revived "as occasion may require."

At least this much was due to well defined public sentiment, settled principles of international law, and good policy in conducting our foreign relations.

GOOD FOR OIL BUSINESS.—It is stated that in Venango County, this State, an experiment is going on with an instrument of French invention for boring wells, and which promises to work an important revolution in the process of "striking." The implement used is circular and hollow, set with diamond-shaped teeth of harde steel. It is connected by an iron rod to oiled cog-wheels, attached by cranks and to the walking-beam of the engine. It revolves rapidly, cutting its way down and leaving a central core standing, which, at last, is cut off and taken out by a clamp. The core exhibits the stratification of the rock, will settle some vexed questions of strata to be ascertained by the ordinary method of drilling. The boring has proceeded at the rate of four inches in five minutes, or ninety-six per day. A correspondent who has visited the operation writes:—"The manager here can cut five hundred feet in ten days, guarantees to do it in twenty days. He has the contract at the usual price for boring."

NEW YORK PETROLEUM CO.—Several of the officers of prominent petroleum companies of New York have combined the organization of a Public Petroleum Board. There are connected with new companies not less than $70,000,000 of this class of stock any of which, being issued at low rates, can afford to pay the usual rates of brokerage and on the transfer. It is, therefore, put to institute a Board, to which the public be admitted, for the nominal charge of twenty-five cents, and any parties be permitted to make their own sales without the intervention of a broker; the annual subscription of the Board will be $15 per annum. A large, well lighted room, corner of Broadway and other streets, is being fitted up for the put of the organization.

Secretary Stanton's Dinner.

Having been invited to attend a banquet of the New York National Club last night, Secretary Stanton responded in that little letter, which, for the sake of public hilarity, we wish it closer, as well as a happy assurance that all is going well, it contemplates to us, we publish here:

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.

MY DEAR BRADY—Yours of the 22d, covering an invitation of the New National Club, to partake of a dinner to Generals Sherman and Thomas, has come to hand; but I regret to say that, though the movement has been set on foot with a good deal of energy, it has got the wrong kind of tools at first; but the power being discovered by experience, another man and Thomas, as you say, we have the keenest edge and finest metal. I am, at this time, why should I attend your dinner? Things are all going well to-day; and, even when disaster happens that the people do not like, I do better remember that the people are a distant public.

Your sincere friend,
EDWIN M. STANTON.

Over one million of dollars' worth of sanitary supplies have been placed in the hands of the soldiers, by the Cincinnati Branch, at an expense of eighteen thousand dollars. This statement is put forth in contrast with the expense attending similar operations in other cities.

Who Blundered at Wilmington?

The Norfolk New Regime on the 29th ult., whose editor is a member of General Butler's military family, and who accompanied the expedition against Fort Fisher, attributes the failure of the attack to a lack of co-operation and the premature explosion of the torpedo at a time when, as he says, "the naval fleet was sixteen or eighteen miles away, and the army fleet riding out the storm in Beaufort harbor." He further says Admiral Porter did not commence the bombardment till twelve hours after the explosion. Speaking of General Weitzel's reconnoissance after Admiral Porter had expressed to Gen. Butler the opinion that there were no rebels within five miles of the fort, it states:

"He (Weitzel) found the contrary to be the case, and that there was a good deal to do because, and that there was a good deal to do besides throwing troops into what was supposed to be an empty fort. He discovered, from the prisoners he had taken, that there were eight hundred men in the works; that instead of thirty-six guns, there were nearer sixty; that the men inside were snugly lying in their casemates and patiently watching the fast-decreasing missiles of the fleet. He learned, too, that on Tuesday of last week Hoke's division had been sent out from Richmond, and that one brigade of it was then encamped within a mile of the garrison. Fortifying this story of the prisoners, there came an attack behind him, upon the troops which were landing. The Brooklyn defended the disembarking warriors in a manner worthy of all praise; still it was necessary for the soldiers to do something for themselves. They pushed into the woods, and the "bushwhackers," or whatever they were, for a time disappeared. Things looked a little stormy just then. Our men were in the situation of soldiers striving to take Fortress Monroe, with the sea behind them, the fort, with its seventeen guns, before them, and some six thousand men of all arms in their flank, with a regiment of South Carolina Cavalry at Masonboro'."

General Butler moved down in the direction of the fort, and consulted with Weitzel. That gallant officer, though the prize was tempting and if he had succeeded in capturing the fort its glory would be large—at once decided that the work could not, in view of surrounding circumstances be carried by assault. Gen. Comstock, I believe concurred in this. The wind had, by this time, changed, and, after a short consultation, it was decided to re-embark the troops.

The writer says there was general want of co-operation between the land and naval forces, and uncertainty of information, and concludes with the following description of Fort Fisher, which he states was not injured by the bombardment:

Fort Fisher, from all I saw and heard, is a square bastioned field work, with fronts of about two hundred and fifty yards in length, and with strong relief, ditch and glacis on every side but the water front; a stockade running from the counterscarp of the north front to the water's side. The only front of which I had accurate observation and report is the north front, and on this there is an elevated bastion next to the sea, and along the curtain flanks and faces were counted seventeen guns, with a traverse rising apparently six feet above the parapet, between each pair of guns.

These traverses are so large that they are believed to be bomb-proofs. The work is situated on the point of land between the sea and Cape Fear river, where the point has a width of about 800 rods, and about 150 yards from the ocean beach, the ground immediately around the work being well seen. A rebel pioneer states that the work is entered by a bridge about 20 feet long, over a ditch from eight to ten feet in depth. It is believed, from the reports of naval officers and what I saw, that on these sea fronts all of the guns are mounted. I believe the work to be fully garrisoned, as they had three regiments of Kirland's brigade, Hoke's division, in reserve, above Sugar Loaf Hill.

The proper method of defense of this work, subjected as it has been to a heavy shell fire, would be to put all the men into the bomb-proofs, excepting a few as lookouts and sentinels, and keep them there until the very moment of assault. This method seems to have been the one adopted, as the fire on our skirmishers, as long as the naval fire continued, was very slight. The moment that ceased, the musketry fire became very heavy, and was accompanied by grape, canister and shell.

General Intelligence.

A telegraphic message was sent a few days since from City Point to Chattanooga with but a single repitition, and that at Pittsburgh. The distance is about two thousand miles.

The rebel House of Representatives made inquiry of Jeff Davis, if passports had been granted young men who did not wish to be in the death of the Confederacy, on their arrival at fighting age.

Mrs. Margaret Dusenbury, residing at No. 5 Goerck street, New York, administered rat poison to her four children on Thursday night, and on Friday morning took a dose herself. On Friday evening the police discovered that one of the children was dead, and the mother and two others were in a very critical condition. The fourth child, which was an infant, will probably recover. The others, it is thought, will die.

St. Petersburg journals publish official documents which show that the Russian Government has been for some time back engaged in the preparation of measures intended for the complete denationalization of Poland. All offices of any importance are to be filled henceforth by Russians; Russian peasant colonies are to be established; the Polish Catholic clergy are to be placed under the strictest control, and no active propaganda is to be set going on behalf of the orthodox church.

Said a Boston merchant to a millionaire the other day, in a rather jocose vein, "I am in doubt about taking your note. You confess, I see, to an income of only $13,000, while your expenditures, you will not deny, are at least double that amount." The millionaire laughed, but a faint blush mantled his cheek.

One of the New York Herald's correspondents with General Sherman's army found himself out of writing paper on his journey through Georgia. About a dozen reams of unsigned rebel currency of various denominations was captured at Milledgeville, and the ingenious reporter wrote his narrative on the backs of the notes. He was somewhat surprised at the conclusion, on reviewing his manuscript, to find that he had used up over a million of dollars.

Three hundred and forty-six dollars had been subscribed at Honolulu to aid the American Board of Missions.

A cotton speculator, who has just returned from Mobile, says that there are over one hundred thousand bales of cotton stored in that city, held principally on French and English account. The total number of bales of cotton in the Confederacy at the present time is estimated by rebel cotton dealers, at seven million bales. They have not succeeded in getting out more than one million bales since the war began.

Persons, direct from the cotton districts, represent the rebel armies to number 100,000 veterans, 50,000 militia, not equivalent to 5,000 veterans, and 100,000 exempts ready under the law to be ranked into the service as available as soldiers at the end of six months. They say that this force will gradually be backed up by the progress of the war into Virginia, and probably compacted at Richmond. They declare that there will be no planting in the South this year, none whatever except a few gardens and patches about the houses. Sherman's march, and Hood's defeat, and the uncertainty of negro labor having utterly discouraged agriculture on a large scale, they predict the speedy disappearance by emigration of the white population of the cotton, rice and sugar States, and the population of the whole of them by blacks, who they say will form a model population for industry, thrift and social order. The trade of the rebel States, after the close of the war, these well-informed parties declare, will be wholly in the hands of Jews. Yankees will have no chance.

THE PRESS.—The Philadelphia Inquirer commenced the New Year with a new and handsome typographical dress. It has also reduced its price to two cents, which we believe is the only instance of reduction in the country. The example, we conclude, will not be generally imitated. The Inquirer has a most excellent newspaper. The Ledger has effected an arrangement for a cheaper article of paper, and has come down from twelve to ten cents per week. We trust the reduction in the price of paper in this instance will become general. The Ledger expresses the belief that there will be an early decline in the price of paper.

☞ FOR NEARLY A QUARTER of a century Matthews' Venetian Hair Dye has been extensively used, and in no case has it failed to give entire satisfaction.

The VENETIAN DYE is the best and cheapest in the world. Its price is only Fifty Cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye in those usually sold for $1.

THIS HAIR DYE is manufactured by a peculiar process which renders it unnecessary to prepare in any thing in the shape of a Dye now or ever before the people. Being complete in one bottle, no preparation is required, which greatly simplifies application.

IN USING THIS DYE, you avoid that DUSTY, DIRTY appearance by which dyed hair and whiskers are so readily recognized, when an inferior article has been used; besides, it produces a permanent, fine color of any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock or wash out—one that is as permanent as the hair itself. For sale by Druggists. Price 50 cents. A. I. MATHEWS, General Agent, 72 Gold street, New York.
